

PRESS RELEASE

Pennsylvania girl with Down syndrome and her father to be featured in ALETEIA Global Project of Hope

When Kurt Kondrich and his daughter Chloe spoke at the United Nations in NYC the past 2 years they connected with an International Italian Filmmaker who loved their powerful UN Message “Embrace don’t erase Down syndrome”. The Filmmaker included Chloe and her dad in an AMAZING Global Project that will reach millions! Eighteen different people from around the world share their journeys of finding light during the darkest times. The new video series, scheduled to debut on November 29, tells the true stories of 18 men and women whose lives were unexpectedly turned upside-down, but through great faith they took the reins and turned their lives around. These are stories of HOPE and of LIGHT - the light that shined through these people’s lives and can illuminate our own lives and those around us. ALETEIA interviewed people throughout the world to tell their inspiring stories of hope, and Chloe and her dad Kurt feel very honored, humbled and blessed to be part of this powerful worldwide initiative that is so desperately needed by our culture: <https://aleteia.org/about-us/>

The pictures are Chloe and Kurt at the United Nations and Chloe on the ALETEIA Episode, and the trailer for this Global Project can be seen here: https://youtu.be/6I\_WRjdJUW8

For additional information please contact:

Kurt A. Kondrich M.Ed

President Chloe’s Foundation

412-951-9117

Email: chloesfoundation@gmail.com

Aleteia launches web series: "LOOK UP-- Stories of Hope"